ABOUT GRETCHEN

Gretchen is a wife and mom of three grown children. She lives in Tallahassee Florida, where she has been leading and teaching Bible studies at Four Oaks Community Church in Tallahassee for more than 15 years. She is currently involved in leadership with the Four Oaks' women's ministry, which is devoted to helping women understand and embrace their identity in Christ. Through this ministry, Gretchen exemplifies and urges women to practice biblical womanhood and pursue the glory of God in all areas of their lives.

She has served at more than 50 events, including seminars, luncheons, and retreats throughout her 25 years of ministry. These retreats have given her the opportunity to work with local churches to teach the truth of God's Word and equip women to persevere in faith through challenges and trials.

Gretchen is the author of the forthcoming book Fighting for Faith: Persevering Through Our Breaking Points. She blogs at gretchenfleming.com.

WHAT DOES IT LOOK LIKE TO HOLD ONTO FAITH IN THE MIDDLE OF LIFE'S MOST DIFFICULT CIRCUMSTANCES? WHERE DO WE GO FOR HOPE IN HARD TIMES?

The world gives us hundreds of messages about who we should be: beautiful wives and driven executives, impeccable decorators and perfectly organized moms. But when life gets hard, these messages only discourage us.

Gretchen Fleming wants to remind women of who they already are in Christ. The challenges she has faced in her own life have taught her to look to God and His Word for her hope, and she loves leading other women to find that hope in Him as well.
